BIOGRAPHY

Brande Pa'trice is an American Pop/Rap style recording artist, pianist, and songwriter from Memphis, TN. Bringing a unique flavor, Brande enhances the underground scene with her stage presence by incorporating her resume of dance choreography and majorette talents. She is a graduate of Texas Southern University with a BA in Entertainment and the Recording Industry with a specialty in Business, and a Certification in Music Business from Houston Community College. She is also a proud alumni of Phi Theta Kappa International Honor Society.

Prestigiously, Brande Pa'trice is a former majorette of Hamilton High School in Memphis, Tennessee, and majorette captain of Texas Southern University "Ocean of Soul Marching Band". Though she has been dancing since the tender age of five, now a more seasoned entertainer, Brande Pa'trice is noted as the Rising New Artist of Memphis, TN with credited performances at Super Bowl XXXVIII with Janet Jackson, Nelly, Diddy, and Kid Rock with Texas Southern University, and the Dodge Dress Houston Annual Fashion Expo 2010-2015 causing critics to label her the "Queen of Innovation".

Later expanding her talents in genres such as Urban, Pop, R&B and Rap to name a few, she has performed halftime for the Harlem Globetrotters and Headlined for Flower of Power in Austin, Texas.

Brande has choreographed for 3,000+ children in Memphis, Tennessee and Houston, Texas combined. She currently choreographs and musically produces for "The Young Actors Guild" of Memphis, TN under the creative direction of Chrysti Chandler since 2016. Brande is also a staple in the South Memphis / Soulsville community. She is the author of "I Want to Be a Majorette" children's book. Pa'trice has dedicated her book to the Memphis Public Library South Third location in Memphis, Tennessee. She is now informing children of her story, and the art of baton twirling. Through the art of baton twirling, Brande has inspired over 3,000 students to pursue the dream of baton collegiately and professionally.
